

Motivation Letter

Dear Sir/Madam

I am Rati Bakhtadze, 26 years old Ph.D. student, volunteer and chief specialist.

So you wonder why I am going to run for the candidate for YATA Executive Board 2017 as Vice president of Finance.

A few months ago I got the email from ATA Secretary General Jason Wiseman. He mentioned in his email that he wants to promote me and another person from other YATA chapter for Crans Montana Forum Leader for tomorrow program. It was the first time I got such an email. I understood that ATA and YATA community is a thing where a person who is sitting in Brussels can appreciate someone who is doing his best in a little country such as Georgia. It gave me motivation and enthusiasm that I want to work and become an international member of YATA and ATA community. The Vice-president of Public Outreach position will give me a chance to show that I also appreciate supports of ATA and YATA to the YATA Georgia and whole to my country.

And here is a question why you have to select me?

I became interested in security studies back, in 2013, when as a volunteer started working in Youth Atlantic Treaty Association of Georgia (YATA Georgia). This was the platform for me, where I had and have an opportunity to be engaged in international law, international relations and international peace and security. Today, I am head of YATA Georgia, and with my team, we are doing our best to spread information about NATO, the organization which proved that peace and security are long terms. Now, I want to share all my experience which I got more than 3 years working in YATA Georgia to YATA international.

I want to add, firstly I am a highly responsible person who is always eager to enrich knowledge and well-suited for both individual performances as well as teamwork. I have the ability to deliver a clear, concise and well-thought presentation or simply express my ideas and views.

Secondly, as a young leader and future diplomat, I am very flexible to contact with other representatives, no matters where they come from, what religions they have. I can always found a common language to build the platform for a future relationship.

Please, do not hesitate to contact me in case you have further questions.

Sincerely,

Rati Bakhtadze
